The sequence of frames shows the evolution of a 2D simulation of a plasma flow. The frames are arranged horizontally, showing the progression from left to right. The simulation depicts a complex, swirling pattern of black and white regions, representing the density or velocity of the plasma. The patterns become more organized and elongated as they move across the frame.

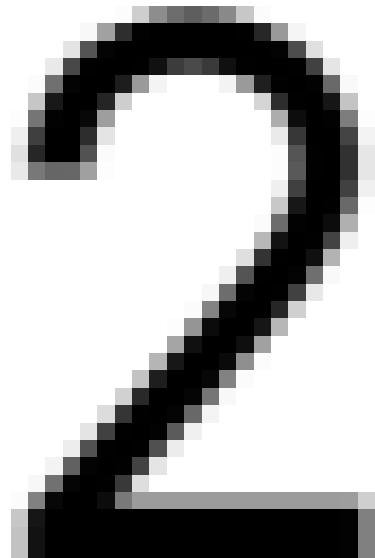

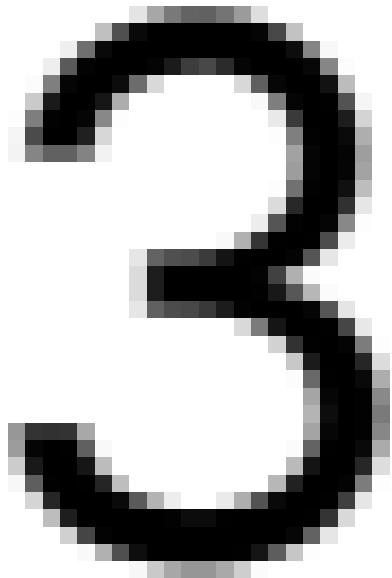

Figure 1. A photograph of a person's hands resting on a dark surface. The hands are positioned with the thumbs pointing upwards and the fingers slightly spread apart. The lighting is dramatic, creating strong highlights on the skin and deep shadows in the creases of the fingers and the palm. The background is dark and out of focus.
